Chef T. Nicolas Peter

As the son of a professional chemist for a French fragrance company & an avid home cook, Executive Chef T. Nicolas Peter grew up in a household that embraced the science behind flavor. Growing up internationally, in such culinary capitals like Paris, Belgium & the South of France, Chef Nicolas absorbed the methods, pairings & ingredients, which would ultimately develop his incomparable cooking style.

Upon moving to the States in his twenties, Chef Nicolas quickly moved up the culinary ranks in fine-dining establishments and hotels. He was soon hired as executive chef at Hollywood's celebrated Café des Artistes, where he refined their bistro menu.

The Little Door's simple & authentic French-Mediterranean fare showcases Chef Nicolas' natural talent for creating harmonious dishes. Constantly captivated by the aromas of fresh, organic produce, herbs, & spices, Chef Nicolas carefully considers the flavor of each ingredient when developing a new dish & is always refining familiar entrees to keep surprising & pleasing palettes.
